BY ELTON C. FAY
Washington, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Air Force has a fledgling flock of new-type warplanes and 89,000 more men than it had a year ago. It took stock of its position today as the September 18 first anniversary of its status as a separate, independent arm of the fighting services approached.

Greek Troops Kill Yugoslav Invaders

Border Violations Stir Up Balkan Troubles

BY JUDSON O'QUINN
Athens, Sept. 10 (AP)—The government announced today that 20 Yugoslav soldiers were killed by Greek troops when a Yugoslav force entered Greece with Communist rebels two days ago.

War Minister George Stratos, who last night appealed for international intervention to prevent a general conflagration in the Balkans, previously had put the number of dead Yugoslav soldiers at nine.

Today's war bulletin said three of the 20 were officers. Three others were taken prisoner and interrogated by members of the United Nations commission on the Balkans.

Stratos charged Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria with repeated border violations and asked action by the U. N. or the Western Allies before an incident touched off general fighting. He said Greece would consider acceptance of an international military force to seal off 500 miles of Greece's border with her three northern neighbors.

End of Ballot-Box Corruption Pledged By G. O. P. Chairman

Baltimore, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Republican national chairman said last night that any effort to win the 1948 presidential election by ballot-box corruption will be punished next year by a "new department of justice."

Hugh D. Scott, Jr., told a Maryland Republican rally that "thievery and chicanery" had thwarted the will of voters in some states two years ago, but warned that "there will be none of that sort of thing in the 1948 count."

"We have two very able former prosecutors in Tom Dewey and Earl Warren," he said, "to make certain that those who attempt to corrupt the ballot this year will have ample opportunity to reflect long and seriously on the merits of honest elections."

Roosevelt Grandson Beats Polio, Takes U. N. Job In London

He plans to sail Monday with his grandmother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

Boettiger was discharged yesterday from Corona Naval hospital. He said he was feeling "just fine" after the mild attack of infantile paralysis, the disease which crippled his grandfather.

Atomic Spy Inquiry Digs In Pay Dirt

BY WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP)—Congressional spy probes claimed today to have struck pay dirt in their digging into an "atomic espionage" plot.

But they kept the nature of their findings secret as they prepared to open their hearings to the public next Wednesday.

A seven-hour closed door session yesterday brought from chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-N.J.) the terse announcement that "this was a very important session" and the House un-American Activities committee made "substantial progress."

Thomas said he and Reps. Vail (R-Ill.) and McDowell (R-Pa.), who conducted the session, delved further into the Hiss-Chambers controversy and "a very important espionage case."

They called half a dozen more witnesses for today but would not reveal their identities nor what they were to be questioned about.

"We have agreed not to talk," McDowell told reporters, disclosing a new committee policy.

However, it was learned that yesterday's witnesses included a chemist formerly employed on the atomic bomb project now a teacher in a private school in New York City.

The committee claims to have evidence that Russia got some wartime shipments of uranium compounds from this country and that atomic scientists leaked information to Soviet agents.

Bloody Street Fighting Jumbles Berlin Crisis

Chinese Wall Built Around Educational System Of Soviets

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP)—Russia is building a "Chinese wall" around its educational system in an effort to shut the Soviet people off from the West, Assistant Secretary of State George V. Allen said today.

Allen pointed to the case of Mrs. Oksana S. Kasenkina, the refugee school teacher who risked her life in a three-story leap for freedom from the now-closed Soviet consulate in New York a month ago.

He cited, too, the earlier closing of Russian schools in Tehran, Berlin and elsewhere and declared:

"Accumulating evidence indicates that the Soviet authorities have determined that no Soviet child shall be educated outside the boundaries of the Soviet union if the Soviet government can prevent it."

Allen, who is assistant secretary for public affairs, prepared his remarks for the opening session of the United States advisory commission on educational exchange.

This group, composed of prominent educators, is seeking to lay down the principles the state department should follow in educational exchanges with foreign countries. The program is part of the government's efforts to counter anti-American propaganda.

Allen urged the educators not to give up hope of eventually exchanging students and professors with eastern European countries now in the Soviet orbit.

"Perhaps we shall eventually find some cracks in the curtain of iron," he said.

Troops In Germany Weak At Maneuvers

First U. S. Infantry Left Groggy By Attack

By THOMAS A. REEDY

Grafenwoehr, Germany, Sept. 10 (AP)—There is ample evidence today that American forces now in Germany would be whipped by a strong thrust from the east.

This was made plain when the U. S. First Infantry Division was slammed groggy by "attacking forces" after only two days of practice maneuvers on the Grafenwoehr reservation. Officers watching the operations were openly dismayed that an aggressor had knifed through the lines so far and so fast.

The mythical problem was this: An "aggressor" trying to push the Division back to the Rhine River had opened up with tanks, artillery and air cover. The Division was seeking to sacrifice itself in order to prove that ground would be lost only at great cost of time, men and money.

Already the First has found itself in serious trouble, a fourth of its men gone and the rest likely to be cut to pieces before the first phase of the problem ends today.

A glum commander headquarters said the aggressor "ripped" the Division's 18th Infantry Regiment "to ribbons" after a brief of lively battle.

Speed Expert Badly Hurt In California Jet Plane Crackup

Van Nuys, Calif., Sept. 10 (AP)—Capt. James T. Fitzgerald Jr., 28, one of the nation's fastest fliers, lay critically injured today after a jet plane crackup.

His TF-80C two-place jet fighter-trainer Shooting Star crashed in a field of rose bushes yesterday 300 yards north of metropolitan airport here.

He had flown alone from Muroc Air Force base, where he was stationed. Witnesses said he was making an approach to the runway here when the plane dipped, dug its left wing into the ground and somersaulted.

Norman Pultz, a Lockheed aircraft test engineer, said that when he reached the scene Capt. Fitzgerald was unconscious, hanging upside down from his safety belt. The flyer was taken to Birmingham General hospital. The extent of his injuries was not disclosed.

Greta Garbo Wants To Be U. S. Citizen

Los Angeles, Sept. 10 (AP)—After 22 years film actress Greta Garbo has taken the first step toward becoming an American citizen.

The Swedish-born actress, wearing slacks and sports jacket, appeared unexpectedly yesterday at the Federal Building and in five minutes filed a declaration of intent with the naturalization office.

Garbo came to Hollywood in 1926. Absent from the screen seven years, she plans to return to the films in a picture based on the life of George Sand, part of which is to be made in Europe.

New Disaster Plan Set Up In Michigan For Civilian Defense

Mackinac Island, Mich., Sept. 10 (AP)—Officials of Michigan's 320 cities are advised by State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard set up the framework of their civilian defense units so they could be activated quickly in case of war or other emergencies.

Leonard, head of the State's Civilian Defense organization during World War II, told a meeting of the Michigan Municipal League last night that cities should organize units now to be ready for any emergency.

"I am not a warmonger, but we can consider our subject dispassionately and calmly without risk of rushing headlong into unwise approaches that so often result from aroused emotions," the State Police head said.

He urged cities to organize "natural disaster programs" to fight against bacterial, electronic and psychological warfare in the event of another war. Leonard disclosed that Governor Sigler had given a go-ahead sign for the program.

Leonard pointed out that his talks with army officials in recent months have led to new plans to civilian defense because of the use of new forms of warfare.

Leonard said that the proposed civilian defense program to be used when and if another war ever comes will not have the salvage program or the victory garden idea used during the last war.

The civilian defense volunteer will "be in a grim business which will require all his attention and ability," the State Police commissioner explained.

Leonard proposed that cities immediately begin a survey to find out:

1. How many hospital beds are available, how many emergency cots may be procured, what places may be used as emergency shelters and the number of ambulances that are available.

2. The number of policemen and firemen and volunteers who may be called upon for such service.

Leonard, continuing his outline of preparations being made to protect the state's 6,000,000 residents in case of war or other disasters, said an outline of the new "disaster plan" is being sent to each community.

He asked that each city designate one official as head of the disaster plan and that inventories be made of existing facilities on local levels.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 10 (AP)—Gov. Kim Sigler will lead a flight of 28 planes from lower Michigan Saturday for the dedication of Houghton county's new million-dollar Memorial airport.

At least 10 Army planes are expected to join in the ceremony, making it the largest air demonstration ever held in the Upper Peninsula, according to the sponsors.

The governor heads a speakers' list which also includes Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) and A. D. McLean, controller of civil aviation for the dominion of Canada.

The airport is a joint project financed by funds supplied by Canada, the United States and Michigan. It is said to be the largest municipally operated air field in Michigan north of Lansing.

Major Gen. Emmett O'Donnell, air member of the permanent joint board of the defense of Canada and the United States, is expected to attend the ceremonies which start at 1 p. m. (EST).

The Army has promised to send two jet fighters from Selfridge field and eight P-51 Mustangs from Kearney, Nebr., sponsors said.

Chances To Settle Blockade Blasted By Russian Bullets

German Capital Aroused Against Communists

(By The Associated Press)

Russia blamed the anti-Communist government of blockaded Berlin today for the mass protest meeting which led to Soviet gunplay.

The Soviets hoisted the hammer and sickle flag over the Brandenburg gate, where blood flowed last night after Berliners, shouting against Communists and the Russian dictatorship, tore down the plain red flag.

The shooting occurred after the Germans stoned three Russian soldiers and then surged toward the nearby Russian sector. One German was killed, 22 were injured and up to 90 were reported thrown in Soviet jails.

Taegliche Rundschau, official newspaper of the Russian military government, said the demonstration—by far the largest in Berlin since the war—was "expressly dedicated to arouse the people against the Soviet occupation power and to a war of agitation against the Soviet union."

Reds Encourage Unrest

Russia and the Communists have been trying to upset the city government for weeks with riots, kidnappings, and other Red tactics.

The demonstration and Russian bullets lessened chances of settling the Berlin crisis, which headed up 79 days ago when Russia blocked the land approaches through the encompassing Russian zone. Allied sources said talks between the military governors to lift the blockade might break down completely. They are now in recess.

American officials said they see no chance of success at the big four meeting with Russia in Paris on Italy's colonies. They foresaw the meeting as only a forum for more Russian vituperation against the U. S., Britain and France.

Col. Glenn E. Arnold, state Selective Service director, disclosed today that the local draft boards will be asked to send a pool of 2,500 men to induction stations early in October for the first draft call and to provide a backlog for subsequent calls.

First pre-induction physical examinations probably will be taken about Oct. 5, it was said.

Col. Arnold reiterated that the first call must be made up from the oldest age group in the draft schedule, the 25-year-old men, and then in consecutive lower age groups according to date of birth.

The Army will take men for physical examination and induction at Dearborn, Grand Rapids, Battle Creek, Flint, Traverse City, Escanaba and Hancock.

Axis Sally Indicted On Treason Charge

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP)—A Federal grand jury today indicted Mildred Elizabeth Gillars—"Axis Sally" of the Nazi radio—on charges of treason.

The 47-year-old Portland, Me., native is charged with making wartime propaganda broadcasts for the Germans.

The indictment cited 10 instances in which Miss Gillars allegedly made the broadcasts over the German radio as a part of the Nazi propaganda campaign against the United States.

AVOID WEST COAST

Detroit, (AP)—The Automobile Club of Michigan Thursday warned motorists planning visits to California and other western states to wait until the oil strike in the Far West is settled. Many oil stations in Los Angeles and other west coast metropolitan centers already are out of gasoline, Harry N. Rogan, club travel manager, said.

According to the dead boy's mother, James frequently rode in the trunk of the car when the front seat was filled with older boys "because he was the smallest."

A partition had been removed from the car, making it possible to climb from the seat into the trunk. James was shot in the top of the head as he lay in the trunk feet foremost.

Air Force Officers Indicted For Deals In Nazi-Held Bonds

Boston, Sept. 10 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted three former army air force officers and one other man on charges of dealing in $500,000 worth of bonds once held by Nazis that were peddled in a European black market.

They were indicted specifically for violating the trading with the enemy act.

Federal officers said three of those indicted—Edward R. Ashton of Enfield, Conn., Gerald A. Rowland of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Seymour Lerner, of Brooklyn—were officers in the air transport command.

NOTED DOCTOR DIES

He was born in Cheboygan, Mich., and spent his boyhood in Sault Ste. Marie.

Dealer Next To Increase Auto Prices

Detroit, Sept. 10 (AP)—Another boost in retail auto prices — this one from dealers, not manufacturers—was in sight for car buyers today.

The state supreme court ruled Wednesday that the state sales tax must be paid on the "blue-book" or true value of a used car rather than the trade-in price set by a dealer. The court ruling was aimed at dealers who demanded that a new car buyer turn in his used car at a below market price as part of the deal.

Detroit area dealers indicated the amount of the increased tax would be passed along to the customer. Managing Director Paul T. Graves of the Detroit Automobile Dealers Association declared:

"There is only one thing the dealer can do and that is to pass the tax along to the buying public."

Some of Michigan's 1,000 new car dealers and 700 used car dealers may find themselves with bills drawn up by more than 30 of the state revenue department's field examiners. The examiners have been assigned to make new audits of dealers books to find out much they owe the state retroactively because of the supreme court decision.

An informal survey of used car lots indicated that the expected rush of car buyers to get in before the Sept. 20 credits restrictions become effective has not materialized.

Used car salesmen said the market for convertibles and station wagons has fallen short of expectations but they blamed part of this on the high prices of the vehicles.

First Draft Wants 347 From Michigan

Physical Examinations Start About Oct. 5

Lansing, Sept. 10 (AP)—Michigan must produce 347 men for the nation's first peacetime draft call in November.

Col. Glenn E. Arnold, state Selective Service director, disclosed today that the local draft boards will be asked to send a pool of 2,500 men to induction stations early in October for the first draft call and to provide a backlog for subsequent calls.

New French Regime Ready For Approval

Cabinet Will Be Fifth Since January, 1947

By HARVEY HUDSON
Paris, Sept. 10 (AP)—The national assembly will be asked today to approve a new French government headed by Radical Socialist Henri Queuille. If accepted, the Queuille cabinet would be France's fifth since January, 1947, the 14th since liberation.

Queuille announced his acceptance of the premiership last night, only a few hours before a spokesman for Gen. Charles De Gaulle issued a statement demanding new general elections.

The country's labor troubles continued. Workers marched toward the Elysee palace, residence of President Vincent Auriol, only to be dispersed by police before arriving there.

Employees of the Renault auto factory left their jobs to March toward the center of the city. They attacked a force of police which met them and a dozen demonstrators and 20 police were reported injured.

Unofficial sources said Queuille, a 64-year-old doctor from Brittany, would take over the vital ministry of finance himself, in addition to the premiership. He thus would deal directly with France's biggest domestic problems—mounting inflation and labor's demands for more money.

Decision Of Court Opens Michigan To Housing Investments

Lansing (AP)—Giant out-of-state insurance companies got the go-ahead from the state supreme court Wednesday to invest in large housing projects in Michigan.

The decision upheld a law of the 1948 special legislative session which authorized insurance companies to invest in housing projects and occupy land for more than 10 years.

Such a step, the decision said, does not violate a constitutional prohibition against corporations holding land more than 10 years which is not used in the exercise of their franchise.

Since the legislature has made housing investment a valid exercise of a franchise, the court reasoned, there can be no objection to insurance companies holding the land beyond the 10-year period.

The decision emphasized that the court was not ignoring the 1947 vote of the people rejecting an amendment to the constitution which would prohibit the issue of the court said, revolved around the question of allowing corporations to occupy land beyond the 10-year period when it was not used in the exercise of a franchise.

The decision was in a test case brought by the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company to force the Ford Motor Company to go through with a deal to sell land for a housing project. The Ford company set the case up by refusing the insurance company could not legally use the land if it bought it.

More Delays At Straits

FERRY TRAFFIC at the Straits of Mackinac over the Labor Day weekend appeared to be heavier than last year, when a new Labor Day ferry record was established, according to officials at the ferry offices.

Chief Wawatam, huge railroad car ferry, was again called in at times of peak traffic to assist the regular state-owned fleet. As a result, delays were held to a maximum of two and a half hours.

The upsurge of ferry traffic at the straits shows conclusively that something must be done to break the bottleneck. Delays as long as six hours were experienced by motorists during the July 4 weekend traffic this year.

The logical first step in a program to relieve traffic congestion at the straits is the completion and utilization of the St. Ignace causeway on which more than a half million dollars has already been spent.

The state highway director, Charles Ziegler, has opposed the use of the causeway on the contention that it cannot be used at certain periods of the year, in late fall and some winter days, because of strong winds.

Between January 1 and Sept. 1 this year a total of 370,639 autos were ferried across the straits. Of this total, 131,306 or more than one-third, were ferried in a single month, August. The weather bureau records for August will undoubtedly show that the causeway route, which reduces the ferry haul by more than one-half, could have been used every day during the past month. The records will probably also show that the short route could have been utilized in July, when the traffic was second only to August.

Governor Sigler has come out in support of the use of the causeway. The people of Upper Michigan are preponderantly in favor of that plan. Eventually perhaps even Mr. Ziegler can be convinced that the causeway offers the solution to the straits problem.

Truman Spreads Disunity

REPLYING to President Truman's campaign speech in Detroit, Harold Stassen bluntly but effectively pointed out to another Detroit audience Wednesday that Mr. Truman sought to establish class consciousness in America by his appeal to organized labor.

In his Labor Day speech at Detroit, President Truman referred to organized labor as if it were a class apart from the rest of American society. In so doing, the president sowed the seeds of national disunity and class antagonism for political gain.

There is plenty of room for ethical political campaigning in this country without resorting to tricks of demagoguery, such as Mr. Truman used in his Labor Day address. Mr. Stassen made an effective rebuttal to the president's Detroit speech. His contribution to the Republican cause, however, was overshadowed by his contribution to national unity by his denunciation of Mr. Truman's appeal to class consciousness for his own political gain.

In these days of troubled world affairs, containing as they do an ominous danger of war, it is particularly essential for the American people that they retain the highest degree of national unity possible. If our nation should become embittered by class hatred and divided by internal bickering, we would simply encourage the war mongers and power-mad rulers of Communism to accelerate their aggressions throughout the world. If war should come, we would be endangered by disunity.

All Americans, Democrats and Republicans alike, have reason to hope that Mr. Stassen has checked President Truman's campaigning along lines of class consciousness.

Budenz Haymaker

HENRY WALLACE has had a lot of eggs thrown at him in the last two weeks. But it's no egg that Louis Budenz has thrown in an article called, "How the Reds Snatched Henry Wallace," in the current Collier's magazine. What Mr. Budenz has thrown looks more like a political haymaker.

The author is the former managing editor to the Communist Daily Worker. He tells his story from his experience as one of the Reds who, he says, hatched the Wallace boom on orders from Moscow.

Something happened during Mr. Wallace's wartime visit to Siberia, he writes, that caused the Kremlin to send urgent directives to its American agents to support the then vice president's political ambitions. The orders were issued at a meeting in June, 1944, which Mr. Budenz says he attended.

The article goes on to say that Communists all over the country—not identified as such, of course—flooded Democratic politicians with demands that Mr. Wallace be renominated for vice president in 1944. They conducted a similar campaign when his appointment as secretary of commerce was up for Senate confirmation.

Mr. Budenz recalls that he was at another Communist meeting in February, 1945, when a top boss named Trachtenberg told the National Board, "We have taken Wallace into custody." And in December, 1946, the Red periodical Political Affairs urged the creation of a third party and, says Mr. Budenz, "singled out Wallace as one who had 'contributed a great deal toward checking the GOP advance.'"

Mr. Wallace and his board of strategy may denounce the article as an election-year smear. But we don't think it can be ducked or brushed off that easily. It is, we repeat, no egg.

Any detailed answer that Mr. Wallace may make will be largely a matter of his words against his accuser's. But there are external factors that will handicap the third party candidate in any attempt to explain away the charges.

No one, not even Henry Wallace, denies that he has the active and unanimous support of the American Communist party. His campaign is being managed for the most part by persons with records of Communist sympathy and left-wing activity. He has never renounced the support of Communists as such, nor has he strayed from the general line of Soviet-Communist international policy.

Against such a background it will scarcely be enough for him to deny that he is playing the Communist game.

There is as little chance that Henry Wallace will be elected president in November as there is that the Communists will seize control of Washington tomorrow. But that is no reason to ignore the charges of Mr. Budenz.

If those charges are not disproved, then we must reflect that except for fate and conservative Democratic politicians, Henry Wallace would have been president for the last three years—a president in the custody of a hostile power's agents.

A Sound Policy

THE SOCIALIST labor government of England has come forth with many unsound viewpoints since assuming control of government after the war, but the British recovery boss, Sir Stafford Cripps, has insisted upon one basic economic principle that contains the economic salvation of Britain. That is strict adherence to a policy that precludes wage increases unless such wage boosts are allied with proportionate increases in production.

Only this week Sir Stafford rejected demands of the mine workers and shipbuilders unions in England for wage boosts.

Said Sir Stafford, "There is only one way by which we can increase our real standard of living and that is by each of us producing more. There is no other answer."

This is a lesson that we should have learned in this country but because we shut our eyes to the inescapable economic truth, we were caught in a vicious inflationary spiral. We have had three general rounds of wage boosts since the end of the war but each one resulted in higher prices because the wage boosts were not predicated upon increased production. As a result we have not increased our real standard of living. On the contrary, we have reduced it.

In Britain's case adherence to a sound economic policy is of even greater importance than it is in this country because Britain must depend upon her world trade for economic recovery. Inflation would severely cripple Britain's ability to compete in the world markets.

If the British government subsequently yields to the demands of labor and boosts wages without getting a proportionate increase in production, England will be faced with an economic crisis far more serious than the present.

THE 'HOLE' OVER PITTSBURGH (Milwaukee Journal)

Pittsburgh is demonstrating the fallacy of those who have argued that a stringent smoke control ordinance cannot be enforced.

As in Milwaukee, the Pittsburgh bituminous or "smoky" coal dealers said that controls would result in a fuel famine. It just didn't develop. Industries installed smoke consuming devices. Householders, given a little time, began to use smokeless coal. All most suddenly, a "hole" appeared in the therefore smoke beloudeled sky over Pittsburgh. Aviators reported it, expressing some amazement, since Pittsburgh is surrounded by suburbs and county areas that are not subject to the city's smoke control ordinance.

Milwaukeeke starts with a more comprehensive ordinance because it is county-wide. We trust that the county's smoke control engineer—and the county board of supervisors—will have the courage displayed by Pittsburgh officialdom when, in the face of dire predictions, they insisted that the control ordinance could be enforced.

The effects of adequate enforcement are surprising. The savings from an economic viewpoint—prevention of damage to goods and buildings—are great. The returns in cleaner, healthier living conditions are amazing. Pittsburgh, as well as St. Louis, has shown the way.

Democrats Are Not Dead Yet

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—It has been the fashion in recent months to count the Democratic party down and out. Innumerable laments have been written and lakes of crocodile tears shed. But as Mark Twain said when he was asked to confirm or deny the rumor of his death, the rumor of the party's demise has been greatly exaggerated. In fact, the alleged corpse is showing aggressive signs of life.

Repeatedly in my travels through the country I heard reports of a healthy revival of growth at the grass roots. This is news that should cheer Americans of whatever conviction who believe that two parties are essential to the effective functioning of our political system.

Whether the signs of reviving life mean anything in the coming election is questionable. The division and decay had gone a long way during the past three years.

SOME HOPEFUL SIGNS

There are at least two sources of the party's returning vigor. One lies in the fact that the Democrats have far more congressional candidates who seem to stand for something positive in this uncertain world.

This is related in part to the deep convictions of such liberals as California's Helen Gahagan Douglas and Chet Holifield. That, however, is not the whole story.

In Iowa, for example, the Democratic candidate for senator, Guy Gillette would probably be classed as a conservative. But he has beliefs that he can express forcefully. He is reported to have a good chance of defeating the Republican incumbent, Senator George A. Wilson, who is colorless and apparently convictionless.

The new leadership that is beginning to assert itself in the Democratic party is founded in a thorough belief in the principles of the New Deal.

Younger men are replacing the tired rubber stamps and the party hacks who in some states still hold the front positions and whose names appear on many state ballots.

A second important force in the revival is the power of organized labor, which on the surface is mostly concentrated behind the Truman-Barkeley ticket. How much hope President Truman is pinning on this force he made abundantly clear in his Labor Day speech.

Organized labor would conceivably wreck what appears today to be the virtual certainty of a Republican victory. Intensive trade-union political organization in key industrial areas could swing states with a decisive total of electoral votes.

That kind of intensive organization had a lot to do with the Roosevelt victory in 1944. The United Auto Workers in Michigan's industrial centers did an extraordinary job for turning out the Democratic vote. Union shop stewards used a master file on all union members.

This year a similar effort is to be made by both the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. But in my opinion it will fall short of the drive of four years ago and, therefore, it is not likely to supply the margin of victory in the cities.

The Wallace movement has deflected some able and zealous organizers. Internal strife has torn unions such as the UAW, which is short on cash to spend for politics even if the resolution for victory were there.

LABOR NOT ACTIVE

To say that there is less enthusiasm for Mr. Truman than for his predecessor is to indulge in a slight understatement. A great deal of prodding will be necessary to get concerted political action from labor this fall.

Labor's most knowledgeable and politically conscious leader, Walter Reuther of the UAW, is said to be brooding over the idea of a non-Communist Labor party. Reuther would be the leader of that party. It would begin to take shape after the November election.

Formation of a new Labor party might really spell the end of the Democratic party. Such a movement could draw the support of a large segment of labor that has refused to follow the Communist-dominated Wallace movement. It is the indifference of voters who care for neither Truman nor Dewey and who now intend to stay home on election day that can decide the outcome, and many of these are labor voters.

Perhaps it is too early to bank on the symptoms of a reviving life. They are a reality, however, regardless of what they may mean for the longer future.

the origin of the word dirge, the music played at a public funeral—W. O.

Answer: Dirge is a shortened form of the Latin dirige, "guide or direct thou." It is from the response in the Office for the Dead (Roman Catholic church) which begins: Dirige, Domine, Deus meus, in conspectu tuo mihi meam (Guide, O Lord, my God my life into Thy vision).

Dayton: We're studying English history. We'd like to know how the Order of the Garter got its name.—J. P.

Answer: According to ancient legend, King Edward III (1344) danced one evening with the lovely Countess of Salisbury. One of her garters became unfastened and slipped to the floor. To quiet the laughter of the other dancers, the king rebuked them in French, saying, "Honi soit qui mal y pense" (Shamed be he who thinks evil of it).

When the king founded the Order of the Garter, the highest in English knighthood, the French sentence became the motto of the order.

SHOCK—Michigan county road commissioners and engineers are back in their home counties again, slowly recovering from shock.

The shock was administered by Gov. Kim Sigler at a meeting of the Northern Michigan Road Commissioners association at Mackinac Island last week.

By the "grapevine" route the commissioners had been prepared to hear good news from the lips of the governor. Some of the Upper Peninsula men who claimed to be close to the governor whispered confidentially that Gov. Sigler would announce that he would call a special session of the legislature to consider ways and means to alleviate the financial plight of the county road commissions.

Instead the governor said flatly that he is not calling a special session and that the people of Michigan, not the road interests, must demand increased gasoline and weight taxes before he will act in the matter.

BUT NO REPORT—The result was a mutual coolness and a bit of heckling from a woman who was reportedly in sympathy with one of the governor's political opponents.

Strange as it may seem, not one word concerning this affair was reported by the newspapers. Presumably there were reporters present, for the governor seldom makes scheduled speeches unless copies are handed the press or representatives attend to hear him. The Associated Press duly reported a few self-congratulatory remarks by Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler, but Northern Michigan newspapers were not supplied with a story on Gov. Sigler's talk.

COURAGE—The governor's stand in the matter of highway financing required courage, particularly in the face of the impending political campaign prior to the November election. It widens the rift between the executive office and some of the factions within his own party, yet it is unlikely that his position on highway financing will cause him to lose support of the people.

Rather the people of Michigan are slowly coming to realize that Gov. Sigler was right in his original proposal for a convention of delegates to revise the state constitution. This proposal again will be placed before the people in November. If it is adopted and the state's constitution brought up to date and made workable many of the financial troubles of the state, and of local governmental units, may be solved to the satisfaction of the people if not that of "vested interests."

THE 'LOBBIES' GROW—There are lobbies within government that are fostered by amendments that earmark revenue for specific uses.

One of these "vested interests" is the highway lobby. By an amendment to the constitution all weight and gasoline tax revenues are by law earmarked for highway purposes. The funds are distributed according to formula to the state highway department, the cities and the counties.

The state legislature has no control over the expenditure of highway funds. It could increase the revenue, however, by raising the state gasoline tax, the weight tax, or both. Therefore the legislature is the subject of attention by the highway lobby, and only the governor's refusal to call a special session prevents consideration of higher taxes for highway users. Now the road interests must wait until the regular session next January. Meanwhile there is the opportunity in November for the people to vote for constitutional revision. Perhaps this is the reason the road men hoped for a special session.

WORK BOTH WAYS—The multitude of constitutional amendments, such as the earmarking of highway funds solely for highway uses, can eventually prove a strange hold as well as a helping hand.

The once adequately financed highway agencies now are overtaxed, particularly at the county level. The hard-and-fast revenue distribution formula leaves the county road commissions poor despite their share of the earmarked revenue—and additional aid voted by the legislature, and consideration from the state highway department.

The legislature voted $5,000,000 to the county road commissions on "loan," yet the counties generally understand they will probably not be called upon to pay it back.

The state highway commissioner has followed a policy of contracting with the counties for the maintenance of state trunklines, a policy he declares to be mutually beneficial.

The present financial pains of the counties are symptoms of something more serious than malnutrition, and the condition needs more than pink pills for a permanent cure to be effected.

New York (AP)—Why doesn't Soviet Russia attack the United States today?

I might if I were ruling Russia, and had committed my country to the presumptuous idea it could conquer the world by force.

Russia is so committed by its clear-spoken adherence to Marxist revolutionary doctrine. Why doesn't it now launch a full-scale assault against the battered European ramparts of Western Capitalism? It has the hugest peace-time army in history—and battle-trained.

The answer lies in a cautious man now living and a bold man years dead.

The live man is phlegmatic Joseph Stalin. The dead man was his old ideological enemy, Leon Trotsky, one of the intellectual skyrockets of history.

Wails For Opportunity
From his grave bearded Trotsky cries:

"Fight for the world-wide rule of the Proletariat today!"

In the Kremlin Stalin, the man believed by some to be behind Trotsky's murder in Mexico, says nothing and bides his time. He waits with buffalo patience to consolidate the gains of Communism within his own country before launching his fist against the world, a fist that sometime has to be thrown or Communism will collapse in failure before the fortified fact of reformed Capitalism.

But will that fist be thrown in Stalin's lifetime? I doubt it. He has missed his grand opportunity—if opportunity it was.

Stalin is now 68 years old. If he shared the eager egotism of Adolf Hitler, who set out to win the world at 50 and died without an acre at 56, he would have turned loose his tremendous hordes against western civilization sometime between May, 1945 and now.

The fact he hasn't done so yet is the best guarantee he won't try it while he is at the helm of the Russian state.

Napoleon set out to win the world in his own lifetime. So did Hitler. Stalin has never suffered from these gallic and teutonic compulsions of self-admiration.

He is committed by his political beliefs to the same goal. That is the aim of classical Communism. But he has an oriental turn of mind and time isn't so important to him. Perhaps he believes—like the average American working man—that time is only that stuff between paydays.

Wants To Keep Face
Obviously, Stalin so far doesn't believe he has reached the main pay day. Like any oriental commander he is more interested in keeping face than losing it in a doubtful gamble.

The Record shows Russia—not America or England—took the brunt of casualties in defeating Nazi Germany. Despite his almost endless manpower Stalin was hurt badly—and perhaps he is aware the Russian peasant is a great soldier on his own soil but not so great in a purely offensive war abroad.

Russia must be having tremendous post-war troubles at home. It is also a tremendous land that needs a half century of internal development to reach its own power peak.

I don't think Stalin wants war now any more than we do. Why should he risk his reputation as the father of modern Russia? But 68-year-old men don't live forever, and no one knows whether his successor will share his caution. That is why the western world has to keep ready.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Gaithersburg, Md.—Well, I had a swell vacation—at least until the pigs got loose. Before the vacation started I had studied road maps and dreamed up all sorts of tours. I figured on going out to see my daughter in California and my wife's aunt in New Mexico. I bothered Karl Bickel about the best way to reach his hideaway in Ontario, Canada, and corresponded with Sumner Welles about a trip up to Bar Harbor.

But in the end I decided that, with real fireworks likely to break out in Berlin this winter, I ought to take a look at things beforehand, so I got steamship reservations for Europe and went through the red tape of an American military government permit to visit Germany. When the sailing date rolled around, however, I just didn't get on the ship. I didn't go on that ship, nor the next ship; in fact, I didn't go at all. I decided that a vacation was for the purpose of doing what one wanted to do most, so I just stayed right at home and enjoyed the Maryland countryside.

That's what I did during all of my vacation—just enjoyed my home and let General Clay worry about the Russians. Only time I left Maryland was to take two trips into the District of Columbia and one trip into the neighboring state of Delaware.

Staying right at home proved to be wonderful—that is, until the pigs got loose. Here are some of the things I did:

Filled the silo—My son-in-law, who used to be a diligent silo-filler when he was courting my daughter, was absent this time; and even my radio agent, Jackson Leichter, never known to do a stroke of work during the rest of the year, carefully sprained his ankle just before silo-filling time. Despite the drones, however, we had such a big corn crop that we filled not only the main silo, but had to put up two temporary silos of paper and chicken wire.

Read William Vogt's "Road To Survival"—It's a book every good American should read. Makes you realize that we may be skating on thin ice as a nation if we don't stop washing our soil down into the ocean, ruining our forests, and dumping our iron and steel in shot and shell on foreign battlefields.

Went to church—What with getting up at 6 a. m. Sundays to prepare a radio broadcast during most of the year, I don't get to church as often as I should. Especially enjoyed the sermon by Bishop John E. Hines of Austin, Texas, who preached at Bethany Beach, Del. His Delaware neighbors tell about a car getting stuck in the mud outside the church and when several people brought planks to get it out, one man remarked: "If that board doesn't do it, I'll go inside and get the pulpit." "Shhh," cautioned another, "that's the preacher over there." "Yes," was the reply, "and I'm the bishop."

Decided not to plant any more corn—Having sat on the banks of the Potomac and watched thousands of tons of topsoil wash down from the cornfields of Maryland and Virginia, I finally decided to do my part by planting no more corn. Despite strip-farming and contour-plowing, both of which we practice religiously, any cornfield, unless on level ground, is bound to wash away the most priceless gift nature gave us—our topsoil. So, from now on, we are filling our silos with alfalfa. The farmers of Iowa, where the ground is flat, can supply the nation with corn.

Met a gradually disappearing species—The country doctor. Young Dr. Garrett Hume got out of the Army and decided he wanted to help his fellow men by practicing where doctors were scarce, hung out his shingle at Georgetown, Del., and has been answering calls on an 18-hour schedule ever since. So, in an age when more doctors gravitate to the city and specialized medicine, here's hats off to the country doctors, like Garrett Hume, who stay out where distances are long, where fees are low and where people need them most.

PIGS GET LOOSE

Most of the above were enjoyed during the first part of my vacation—before the pigs got loose. I might note in passing something obvious to most lady readers—that this stay-at-home vacation didn't go down too well with Mrs. P. After all, when you've kept house, cooked and planned meals for a year, it's only natural to want to let a hotel manager worry over the food and the servant problem during your husband's vacation.

However, Mrs. P. was a good sport, and, among other things, enjoyed her garden, especially one plot of lawn she had worked hard to keep green and on which we sometimes played deck tennis.

This is the point where the pigs came in. It was, of course, my fault. I had seen them roaming around loose, and I had been warned by the lady who is much brighter than I am that they might descend on the lawn. However, they were such nice little pigs, and they so obviously enjoyed their freedom, that I put off catching them for a day.

ENVIES GENERAL CLAY

That day turned the tide of my vacation. That evening the pigs decided to play deck tennis. I don't know which of them won, but I know I lost. In thirty minutes that lawn—pride of Mrs. P.'s heart—looked like a plowed field.

I took one look at it and decided General Clay in Berlin was to be envied. Why, oh why, had I not followed my earlier plans and gone to Germany?

Did you ever put together a picture puzzle the size of a quarter acre? Well, I did, beginning at five the next morning—a picture puzzle consisting of little pieces of turf—octagon-shaped, triangular-shaped, or no-shaped. In fact, I spent the rest of my vacation patching that lawn, watering it, tamping it, praying over it.

MITCHUM HAS POOR RECORD

New York—I don't quite savvy all this sudden bleeding over the plight of Robert Mitchum, a droopy-eyed young movie actor who seems to have been caught by the cops on a reefer binge with a couple of blondes. For one thing, it is not an unusual offense in Hollywood. Dragging the weed ranks roughly in the film colony with taking benzadrine as a substitute for sleep and sobriety. Some medics think it less harmful to the user than the habitual dosage of sleeping potion, or goofballs, which by now are as staple as Hollywood prop as the yellow convertible. Mr. Mitchum, the darling of the bobbysoxers, has been subject to a rigorous Hollywood cleanup ever since the cops busted into his fume-filled playhouse. Some of the Broadway columns have treated him as an unjustly pilloried saint, and even the rough-tongued Hedda Hopper has fronted strongly for his forgiveness. It would seem—as witness the hiring of shrewd lawyer Jerry Geisler as his mouthpiece—to be a hurry-up deodorizing job on a valuable screen commodity.

Before he clammed up on the advice of counsel, Mr. Mitchum was quoted as saying that he had been smoking marijuana since childhood. It could be correct.

Was Juvenile Delinquent

According to an old article on Mitchum by Cameron Shipp in Collier's magazine, Mitchum had been a juvenile delinquent since the age of six, setting some sort of record for running away from home. He was enrolled in four high schools; finished none. Mr. Shipp said that all the information in the article was obtained from Mitchum or from his mother.

He was a hobo at 16, riding the rods through the south. When accused of robbing a shoestore in Savannah, Ga., he pointed out that this was impossible, since he was in jail for vagrancy at the time of the robbery. Nevertheless, he was sent to the Georgia chain gang, which he claims to have found "not so bad". While there he met a large Creole murderer, and together they worked a racket, shaking down new prisoners for bedspace, at 25 cents a head.

Mitchum married at 16—to the woman who was in process of leaving him when he got emmeshed in his current troubles. He made a living, for a while, writing dirty material for cheap nightclub acts—"some of the stuff so blue I'm ashamed to remember it." Then he worked with Carol Righter, the astrologist, playing private parties in wealthy homes. He left Righter soon after some trouble in Philadelphia, when a butler apprehended Mitchum in the act of absconding with seven bottles of booze.

Had "Old Back Injury"

He was knocking around Hollywood when the war came and, after the fashion of so many bobbysoxer idols, managed to escape an early draft because of "an old back injury". This did not prevent him from working at Lockheeds until the draft caught up with him again in 1942. He served as a drill sergeant until released because of dependents.

The good barons at RKO studios wished to find out what Mitchum had that made him so acceptable to the young fans, and conducted a poll. The poll, captioned, revealed that they liked the young man because "he has the most immoral face we ever saw" and that "he suggests sex in an evil sort of way."

It seems to me that an occasional puff on a reefer is certainly a small sin in his community, which has been known to combine all sorts of barbiturates with whisky, for kicks, such questing after nepenthe occasionally winding up in a colorful suicide or slaying.

The movie capital, while working every angle in the book to get its people's face on the front page to exploit pictures, shivers and screams in horror when one of the tinselled hams occasionally makes headlines as legitimate news after having been trapped in some transgression.

Seeing as how most of the mimes are puppets with press agents, I don't believe Mr. Mitchum's guilt or innocence should affect his career one way or the other. So many of Hollywood's idols of the young have persisted despite the company they kept, be

Sgt. Gilbert F. Byrns Services Here Monday

Sgt. Gilbert F. Byrns, 33, son of Mrs. Kathryn F. Byrns, 1400 Second avenue South, who was killed in action on Leyte in the Philippines Dec. 7, 1944, while attempting to rescue a wounded soldier, will be buried in Holy Cross cemetery here Monday morning.

His body was among those recently returned to this country from the Philippines for reburial at the request of their next of kin. Funeral services for Sergeant Byrns will be held in St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock morning, with the Rev. Martin Melican as celebrant. The service will be a solemn high mass.

The body will be brought here Saturday morning and will be taken to the Alto funeral home, where Daughters of Isabella will meet at 4 p. m. Sunday to recite the rosary. The Third Order of St. Francis will meet there at 3 o'clock afternoon to recite the rosary. The military funeral will be charge of Escanaba veterans' organizations.

The Escanaban was fatally wounded while attempting to remove a wounded man from in front of an enemy replacement Dec. 7. He died three days later.

Born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 5, 1911, he was graduated from Escanaba high school with honors in 1931. He attended St. Thomas college in St. Paul, Minn., for two years and was employed for a time as a superintendent in the Escanaba veneer plant of the Birds Eye Veneer company.

In Dec. 1941, he received an appointment in the Panama Canal Zone, where he remained until July, 1942. On Sept. 9, 1942, he enlisted in the U. S. Army and had been in service two and one half years at the time of his death.

Sergeant Byrns participated in five invasions in the Pacific area, including the Leyte invasion in which he lost his life. He served on New Guinea for 16 months.

It gangsters, dope-dealers, murderers or other folks' wives, that a little thing like a drag on a muggle shouldn't bother a man who has charm for the kiddies. If anything, this sort of publicity might make him a star like the late Wallace Reid, another great lover with a fondness of artificial exhilaration.

Prior to going overseas, he received his training at Camp McLeilan, Ala., and Camp Hood, Tex.

From reports received from his commanding officer and others, it was evident that Sergeant Byrns was highly respected and admired by all who knew him. "He was tireless in his activities and could always be relied on for a smile when the going was rough," his mother was informed. "He was a cheerful and obedient soldier whose passing was deeply felt by all members of the organization."

In addition to his mother, he is survived by his brother, Charles, of Escanaba, who also was in military service during World War II.

A short time ago a Citizens Recreation committee in Sault Ste. Marie, Canada, argued the question of whether poolrooms provide clean sport or pitfalls for youth. The debate was inevitably inconclusive. One question asked was "Could it be that popularizing pool amongst the ladies would elevate the places in which it is played to respectability in the public eye?" It was noted that bowling alleys, when they were strictly male hang-outs, were thought of as "dives." But since the ladies have moved in, their present status is a bright and cheerful recreation center.

Commented the Sault Daily Star—"No doubt the suggestion is treasonous to the male who has seen such erstwhile refuges as the bowling alley and the barber shop infiltrated by the little woman. But it might usher in a new era for the poolroom business which proprietors might welcome."

What People Are Thinking

By Elmo Roper

By this time next week the quadrennial spectacle of the Presidential campaign will be under way in earnest. Except for what Henry Wallace might say, it appears now that the issues of foreign policy will be removed from the campaign. Though Dewey recently tried to score a political point over the Italian colonies, the Republicans and Democrats have forged a bi-partisan approach to most matters which extends beyond the water's edge.

Roper

Most of the arguments offered by the candidates for the attention of the American people during the next two months will be concentrated on affairs at home. Yet the latest "Fortune" survey found that a majority of Americans think it more important that a President be good on foreign affairs than on domestic affairs. A cross section of the voters were asked:

	Total Voters
Domestic	29.8
International	49.0
Express no opinion	2.2

Almost twice as many people are concerned with the way the next President conducts our international affairs as are concerned with the way he handles domestic problems. The mounting tensions abroad, such as those over relations with Russia, have a higher priority with the public than even the pocketbook crisis of high prices at home.

The coming campaign, then, poses a curious sort of picture. Foreign policy, that phase of the next President's job which most people think is most important, is likely not to play an important part in the election campaign.

In more than one way that is appropriate. The two major candidates running for the Presidency, Dewey and Truman, are not looked upon as the men who have done most to shape our foreign policy. By way of contrast, the two men who have requested that they be allowed to remain above the strife of partisan campaigning, Secretary Marshall and Senator Vandenberg, receive most of the credit from the public for formulating the bi-partisan approach. Here's the question "Fortune" asked:

	Total Voters
Thomas E. Dewey	2.2
George C. Marshall	43.1
John Foster Dulles	2.9
Harry S. Truman	9.4
A. H. Vandenberg	21.4
Express no opinion	24.9

Which one of these men do you think has done the most to form our present foreign policy?

There is, however, one other significant fact which emerges from these results. Secretary Marshall far outstrips any other person in the mind of the public as our chief policy maker in foreign affairs. And when the list of five is divided into Republican and Democratic party affiliations, it is found that almost twice as many people give credit for formulating international policy to Democratic - appointee Marshall and Democratic nominee Truman than to Republicans Dewey, Vandenberg and Dulles.

Thus, while the public recognizes the role which Mr. Marshall has played in adhering to the bi-partisan policy, the Secretary of State under the Democratic Administration is still looked upon as being mainly responsible for our present foreign policy. Despite this fact, it seems unlikely that either party could make political capital of the international policy issue, even if it were so minded. For there is every indication that the people of America would not look with favor on any campaign maneuver which would destroy the bi-partisan approach. Among both Truman and Dewey supporters, there is strong sentiment to keep Mr. Marshall or Mr. Vandenberg at the helm in running our affairs abroad. "Fortune" asked:

	Total Truman Dewey Voters	Total Voters
Marshall	35.7	43.1
Dulles	6.7	2.9
Vandenberg	31.8	21.4
Express no opinion	25.8	24.9

These results show that the voters as a whole are almost evenly divided between Senator Vandenberg and Secretary Marshall as to which should be Secretary of State during the next four years. Truman voters prefer Mr. Marshall a little more strongly, although one out of every four would find Senator Vandenberg perfectly acceptable. Dewey voters have a slight preference for Mr. Vandenberg, but three out of every ten would go long with Secretary Marshall. The relatively low vote for Mr. Dulles is probably more a reflection of the fact that he is not well known than it is any special dislike the voters may have for him. Since Mr. Dulles is most frequently mentioned as Dewey's choice to be Secretary of State, it would seem important for the Republicans to take steps to allay Mr. Dulles' to earn the same degree of prestige and stature in the eyes of the people that Mr. Marshall and Senator Vandenberg have today.

But, if the people themselves have anything to say about it, international policy will remain above the partisan campaigning of the next two months. In fact, the party which breaks the bi-partisan pledge, not only would appear to be imperiling the peace, but might also be endangering its candidate's chance of election. Pomeranian Dog Answers Telephone In Gladstone Home

Hearing the ring, Panda quickly removes telephone receiver from cradle

And listens to human voice on other end of line

BY HELEN CLOUTIER
Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Beaudry, 913 Wisconsin avenue, Gladstone, will never have to worry about their telephone calls going unanswered.

Panda, their six-year-old female pedigree Pomeranian dog has the situation well in hand, much to the amazement of the telephone operators.

No matter where Panda happens to be playing or sleeping, inside or outside, the moment the telephone bell rings there is a mad scurry for the den and the telephone table.

Over a period of six years of telephone answering, various pieces of furniture have been scattered and paved until the phone drops to the floor. If the phone is sitting on something she can reach, Panda, like a streak of lightning, takes the receiver or the receiver cord in her teeth and jerks it from the cradle and drops it to the floor. She listens first then barks into the mouthpiece and waits for the answering voice. Many people calling the Beaudry home hear the click of the receiver and then an ear shattering bark. Confused and a little bewildered, they call the telephone operator to see what has happened. The answer is always the same. "Mrs. Beaudry is not at home because her dog answered the phone."

This beautiful Pomeranian was never taught this clever trick and has answered the phone since she was about six months old.

Strange too, is the fact that Panda will answer no other telephone. Now, due to the indignation and finally resignation of the Beaudry family, the telephone has been concealed in an enclosed phone cabinet. It would not be surprising if, one day, she learns to open the cabinet door.

Panda, red-orange female, was purchased from the Collingworth Kennels owned by Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hargreaves of Manistiquie, Mich.

What your Doctor wants you to know about the preventive drug that helps the body to fight lockjaw

YOUR doctor has at his disposal a number of preventative agents commonly known as vaccines. The best known is smallpox vaccine, which in a few generations has virtually wiped out a cruel and destructive scourge. There are other immunizing agents—among them tetanus toxoid—which is used to prevent and to combat the often fatal infection of lockjaw.

When a tetanus germ enters the system, the body goes into immediate action to battle the infection. The body creates antitoxin to fight off the invader. The resulting illness is a struggle for supremacy between the invader and the body's resources. Whether the battle ends in death or recovery depends on the ability of the body to repel the invader.

When your doctor administers toxoid to you, he is furnishing you simply and easily the ability to defeat lockjaw germs before those germs enter your body. He is building immunity for you, so that when the germ strikes, the body is prepared to resist.

Young children who frequently suffer cuts—adults who work in stables, or on farms, where the germs thrive—all those whose occupations expose them to serious injuries—should be immunized against lockjaw.

Ask your doctor about the availability of tetanus inoculations.

St. Joe Gridders Open At Gladstone Saturday

Green Brave Team Is Set For Inaugural

Keil Has Two Regulars From 1947 Squad

Gladstone, Sept. 9.—Coach Eldon Keil's 1948 edition of the Braves will get its gridiron baptism here Saturday afternoon at Marble Athletic Field with St. Joseph Parochials of Escanaba furnishing the opposition.

The local mentor has only two regulars from last year around which to build this fall and only one, Bob Beaudry, a tackle who is playing at the spot he did a year ago. Dick Skoglund, the other, played end last fall and this year is at right halfback.

The remainder of the team is green but it has developed well in several weeks practice, the spirit is good and with several games experience will probably prove hard to stop. The line from end to end is fairly big and heavy but the backfield is not heavy and not exceptionally fast.

Rangy Phil Creten will be at left end, Bob Beaudry at left tackle, Stacey Jugo at left guard, Peter Peterson at center, Marvin Jandro at right guard, William Beveridge at right tackle, Jim Schram at right end, Jerry Londo at quarterback, Ray Alwooden at left halfback, Dick Skoglund at half and Ralph McGeary at fullback.

The opening kickoff is scheduled for 2. John Kelly of Manitowish will be the head official.

St. Louis, Sept. 10 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals last night defeated the Chicago Cubs 4 to 0 before 11,403 fans. Harry Brecheen fanned 10 Cubs while limiting them to six hits for his sixth shutout of the season.

Tiges Lose 2nd Extra Inning Game To Tribe

Cleveland, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers lost their second extra-inning ball game in a row to the Cleveland Indians here last night when Eddie Robinson's pop fly into right field in the 13th inning sent Ken Keltner home with the run that gave the tribe a 3 to 2 victory.

Wednesday night's game was won by the Indians in the 11th.

Appropriately enough, the crowd of 43,373 was celebrating "Ken Keltner Night" and received an automobile and $5,000 in other gifts.

The game started out as a brilliant pitching duel between Hal Newhouse and Bob Feller, but Feller gave way for a pinchhitter in the seventh and Newhouse went out the same way in the ninth.

Each had seven strikeouts, enough to enable Feller to tie with his teammate Bob Lemon for major league leadership with 129.

Sam Zoladak went in for Feller and repeated his previous night's performance of earning an extra-inning victory by fine relief hurling Virgil Trucks was charged with the defeat. Trucks had two out when he walked Keltner. Then heuman Tucker singled to center and Robinson's base hit to right scored Keltner from second.

The two teams meet again today for the final clash of their three-game series. Paul (Dizzy) Trout is expected to go to the mound for Detroit and Gene Bearden for the Indians.

In the National, the Boilemackers overwhelmed Harnischfeger, 24-4, and Northland took VFW, 4-2.

The tournament schedule has been changed to eliminate Saturday games. No games will be played tomorrow. The championship games will be played at Memorial Field Sunday evening, with the National titular affair coming off at 6:30, the American league title game at 7:45 and the playoff for the city championship between the two league titlists being staged at 9 p. m.

31 Trojans Geared For Strong Bid

St. Germain Builds "11" Around 8 Lettemen

"Beat Gladstone!" That's been the battle cry in the St. Joseph's high school football camp ever since the first practice August 17 under the Escanabans' new full-time coach, Tom St. Germain.

The cry will reach a fever pitch in Gladstone at 2 tomorrow afternoon when the Trojans open their 1948 grid season—a season that holds much promise. The Trojans have fire in their eyes and under the tutelage of a fulltime mentor for the first time in many long years, they intend to go some place this year.

They would like to start that trip against Gladstone tomorrow. Not only would it be a step in the right direction for the Trojans, but it would help immeasurably to erase the memory of that 30-7 setback in the opener here last season.

Eight Lettemen

But he has an octette that supplies a good nucleus for a starting eleven and, in all probability, all eight will answer the opening whistle tomorrow.

Tupper has been named captain for the opening game.

Miron Sidelined

One familiar face that will be missing in the Trojan gridiron lineup this season is that belonging to big Jack Miron, lanky left end from the '47 aggregation. Miron has an injured knee, a bothersome sciatic nerve, and is sidelined for the season in hopes that he'll be fully recovered for the coming basketball season—a sport in which he also covets with considerable capabilities.

Probable offensive starters tomorrow will be Jim Marsieck, left end; Hermes, left tackle; Tupper, left guard; Menard, center; Marenger, right guard; Rademacher, right tackle; John Baker, right end; Harris, quarterback; Robert Williams, left half; Gleich, right half, and Paul Laviolette, fullback.

Baker is a first year man who has been kept out of action in the past because of an injury. He is rough and tough and is expected to play a lot of end tomorrow and throughout the season.

Defensive Talent

Ready for utility duty on offense are Dick Smokovich, quarterback; Joe Aiken, halfback; Dick Wagner and Don Paulin, guards, and Mike Gries, end. Ready to substitute when the team goes on defense will be Paul LeGault, halfback, and a pair of defensive tackles who would warm the hearts of any gridiron mentor—Harry Humbertson, who literally tips the scales at 235 pounds, and Dick Casey, who is not far behind with a modest 215 reading.

Two outstanding freshmen players who are sure to see action this season, even if they scale only 200 pounds between them, are Peter Kufches, second team right halfback, and William Baker, end. They show plenty of possibilities, and Coach St. Germain intends to start grooming them early.

Thirty-one Trojans in all are geared for Gladstone—loaded for bear, as the saying goes—and an upset of the traditionally strong Keil-coached Gladstone eleven would not be out of order.

Browns Rally Twice To Take Pair From White Sox, 5-2, 4-2

Chicago, Sept. 10 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns overcame a 2-0 deficit to defeat the Chicago White Sox 5-2 here yesterday in the first game of a double-header and scored three runs in the ninth to win the second game 4-2.

All members of the Escanaba Bears baseball team are requested by Playing Manager Jack Beck to turn in uniforms to him at Beck's food store as soon as possible.

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS "It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

There is a Time-Marches-On aspect to the Escanaba St. Joe-Gladstone football game in Gladstone tomorrow that might have escaped your attention were it not for sports scribes. But you know how those fellows are—always looking for angles.

When Gladstone and St. Joe square off tomorrow afternoon, it will mark the start of Coach Eldon R. Keil's 25th season at Gladstone and the start of Coach Tom St. Germain's first season at St. Joseph's.

Time Marches On! A veteran mentor pitting a very green team against a new coach with a team hit only so-so by graduation losses.

St. Germain comes to St. Joe highly recommended by Northern Michigan College of Education, where he starred in all major sports. It's his first season, and tomorrow is his first game as a coach.

"Cappy" Keil's record is well known. During his tenure, Keil-coached teams have won 99 games, lost 50 and tied 13. In 23 seasons as coach (he was assistant his first year at Gladstone), he has had 16 winning seasons, including three times undefeated and five seasons with only one defeat.

And just to show you what St. Germain and his Trojans will be bucking tomorrow, Gladstone and St. Joe have met 18 times before and the Braves have won 11 of those games. St. Joe has won only four and three ended in a tie.

Can "Cappy" win his 100th victory tomorrow? Those Trojans are mighty determined to get St. Germain off to a good start.

And in the same breath, we mention Don Pfotenhaner, who is starting his coaching career as assistant to Coach Keil at Gladstone. Pfotenhaner was an all-U. P. star at Escanaba high school in 1941. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin.

Cuff notes: The Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League will arrive in Sault Ste. Marie tomorrow to begin 17 days of training for the 1948-49 season. . . . It marks the first time a major league hockey team has used Soo's Pullar Stadium for practice. . . . The U. P. pro-amateur golf tourney—now, perhaps, more properly named the U. P. Open Golf tournament—has an entry list of more than 60 and promises to be a bangup affair this Sunday at Iron Mountain. . . . It's an all-medal tourney with 18 holes in the morning and 18 in the afternoon. . . . Escanaba will be represented by Don Feller, pro; Elmer Swanson, John Taggart and Harry Hogan. . . . Al Borla, Iron Mountain pro, says all clubs in the U. P. are represented except Crystal Falls, Iron River and the Soo.

Three U. P. athletes are on the University of Michigan football roster. . . . Namely, Bill Jennings, of Negaunee; Donald B. McClelland, of Calumet, and James H. Poppy, of Iron Mountain. . . . Dick Beattie and Phil Demares, of Munising, are among returning grid lettemen at Northern Michigan in Marquette. . . . Burton Gustafson, Newberry, and his home town mate, Cliff Puckette, last year's most valuable at NMCE, also are back in action.

Tom Renn won the Iron Mountain golf club championship. . . . Bill Towson, Norway, shot a new record six-under-par 30 at Iron Mountain's Pine Grove. . . . The old record was 31 held jointly by Charley Swedberg, former Iron Mountain and Gladstone professional; Irving Johnson, former Pine Grove pro, and Denny Shute, nationally known pro.

Blue Devils Bring Heavy Eleven Here For Battle Tomorrow With Eskymos

Speed, Fight Are Weapons Of Escanabans

Opening Game For Both Teams Starts At 2

When the Escanaba Eskymos square off against the Sault Ste. Marie Blue Devils in the season opener here at 2 tomorrow afternoon, they'll be up against a heavy team, but advance information indicates the invaders are a bit slow aloft.

All of which means that Coach George Ruwitch's Eskymos will have to make up in speed, shiftiness and aggressiveness what they lack in heft, and if the Blue Devils are as heavy as they are reputed to be, a viciously hard fighting Eskymo aggregation should be able to open up some holes for its rabbit backs.

Neither team has been tested as yet, so tomorrow's game must remain an unknown quantity until each has a few plays under its respective belt. But judging it strictly by the tale of the tape Soo has a big edge—and we do mean big. It will take fight and plenty of it to offset this avoiddupis advantage.

The Bigger They Are—!

For instance, the Blue Devils have a line averaging over 180 pounds, compared with 157 for the Eskymos, and their backfield averages 155 against 144 for the home team.

But if the Eskymos display the same pluck and spirit they did in closing games last season after the Iron Mountain debacle, they should overcome this weight advantage—which is not as insurmountable as it may seem. You know what they always say about a good, little man.

Against Jim Erickson and Warren Gustafson, 180 and 190, respectively, Soo will pit a pair of 200-pound tackles in Jim Sutton and Clayton McFarland. Other Soo starters are expected to be Leonard Staley and Orville Dietz, ends; Tom Bye and Buckley Fournier, guards; Rod Navin, center; Russell Bruce, quarterback; Jim Lamoreaux and Duke Sibbald at the halves and the stocky speedster and erstwhile hurdler, 170-pound Keith Ewing, at fullback.

Nine Soo Lettemen

Staley, Sutton, Navin, McFarland, Dietz, Sibbald, Ewing are the seven Soo lettemen in the starting lineup. Two other lettemen veterans who will see action are Bill Pemberton and Jim Brander, backs. Twenty-two men will make the Escanaba jaunt with Football Coach Dave Ripley. Forty-five men in all reported for football at the Soo.

Coach Ruwitch is expected to start Gary Abrahamson and Gerald Dufour at ends, Warren Gustafson and Jim Erickson at tackles; Dick Barron and Jim Chapekis at guards; Dick Johnson at center and a backfield combination of Dick Pryal, quarter; Don Carlson and Herb Nicholson, halves, and Howard Perron, fullback.

The heaviest man in the Eskymo backfield is Nicholson, who scales only a scant 150. Carlson and Perron hit in the neighborhood of 145 and Pryal weighs only 135. Gilbert Prevost, another 135-pounder, will alternate in the first string backfield.

Another combination ready for action is Jim Prokos, Axel Ander-

23-Year-Old Barney Hurls No-Run No-Hit Game Against Giants

By Joe Reichler Associated Press Sports Writer

The greatest pennant races in major league history were forced to play second fiddle today to a 23-year-old, rosy-cheeked Omaha boy who only a few short months ago was struggling to stay in the big time.

This tall youngster from Nebraska, blond-haired Rex Barney, rapped loudly on the door to pitching greatness last night when he hurled a no-run, no-hit game against the New York Giants. It was the first of the 1948 National league season and the second in the majors.

Barney's superlative pitching enabled the Brooklyn Dodgers to defeat the Giants, 2-0, at the Polo grounds, and advance to within three and a half games of the league leading Boston Braves. The strong-armed righthander's runless and hitless game will long be remembered by the 36,324 fans who braved intermittent showers to witness the game.

There have been 89 other no-hitters tossed in the majors since the turn of the century, but Barney's mound masterpiece is set apart from all others, for it was achieved at the expense of what has generally been rated the hardest hitting club in modern times. Yet this heralded wrecking crew did not come close to connecting for a base hit against Barney's fireball delivery. There wasn't a difficult chance handled by a Dodger fielder. Only six balls were hit to the outfield. Only five were hit solidly, two traveling 400 feet or better, but son, ends; Jack Slapp and Alf Nelson, tackles; Matt Smith and Gilbert Kangas, guards; Tom Nault, center; Dick Danielson, quarterback; Bill Hamm and Pat Farrell, halves, and John Beaumier, fullback.

Officials for tomorrow's game will be Eddie Chambers, Crystal Falls; Tim Barry and Miles Finegan, both of Vulcan.

Ellis Kinder went the route for the Sox, allowing eight hits. It was Boston's ninth straight win, seventh in a row over the Yankees, and 24 out of the last 27 games. Ted Williams, with two hits and three runs batted in, paced the Red Sox nine hit attack.
